On behalf of the Local Organizing Committee of the 11th International Symposium on Cavitation 2021 (CAV2021), it is our great pleasure to welcome you to the symposium which will be held as a Virtual Conference from 10 to 13 May 2021.

Since its initiation in 1986 in Sendai, Japan, the CAV Symposium has grown to become the world's foremost event dedicated to cavitation.

CAV2021 focuses on all phases of cavitation, both fundamental and applied and takes an opportunity to discuss the latest advances in modeling, numerical simulation, and experimentation related to the cavitation phenomenon.

More than 400 participants including all the current and future experts in this field from around the world and beyond will gather on the virtual site. The CAV2021 will be a platform for scientists, engineers, and student delegates to forge new relationships and create opportunities with delegates from other parts of the world.

CAV2021 Local Organizing Committee wishes the most valuable time for all the delegates and look forward to meeting you soon.

Shin Hyung Rhee

General Chair, CAV2021 Local Organizing Committee
Professor, Seoul National University

About the symposium

Sendai (Japan)	1986
Tokyo (Japan)	1994
Grenoble (France)	1998
Pasadena (USA)	2001
Osaka (Japan)	2003
Wageningen (Netherlands)	2006
Ann Arbor (USA)	2009
Singapore (Singapore)	2012
Lausanne (Switzerland)	2015
Baltimore (USA)	2018

Since the first CAV symposium in 1986 in Sendai, Japan, the symposium had successful cooperation in cavitation society all over the world. After the second symposium in Tokyo (1994) it was decided to make it periodic every three to four years in Asia, Europe, and the Americas. Since then CAV has played a great role in the exchange of knowledge and research results among the delegates.

The upcoming CAV2021 will be open to researchers and professionals from all over the world and will be another joyful event that provides a high standard international symposium to present, exchange, and discuss recent advances, new techniques, and applications in the field of cavitation.
